Mountain Town of Caliente Completely Wiped Off the Map.

Three Thousand Pounds of Dynamite Exploded by Flames.

Inhabitants Flee Into Hills to Escape Death by Burning.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

BAKERSFIELD, June 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The pretty mountain village of Caliente, on the southern Pacific Railroad, twenty-two miles east of this city, was completely destroyed by fire, and the explosion of 3000 pounds of dynamite late this afternoon.

The fire originated in the Southern Pacific depot, where the heavy explosives were stored. The inhabitants, unable to check the flames, and being informed by the railroad agent of the presence of the dynamite, fled for miles into the hills. Consequently the ensuing terrific explosion wrecked the depot and adjacent buildings, and the fire continued unchecked.

It was reported late tonight at the Southern Pacific office here that no one had been killed or injured. Practically every dwelling and building had been consumed by the flames.

The depot was blown to atoms, the flying embers spreading the flames to the town of more than 1000 inhabitants.

Telegraph connection to Los Angeles was interfered with. The destruction of property includes the depot, Caliente Hotel, P. J. O'Meara's general merchandise, blacksmith shop, postoffice, two restaurants, several saloons, one dwelling and a water tank.

The fire started on the depot platform.

Russian Authorities, Fearing for the Safety of Czar, Force Race Out of Pottawa.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, June 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fears are entertained in Russia regarding the safety of the czar during his approaching visit to Pottawa for the celebration of the bicentennial of the battle of Poltava, in which the Russian forces under Peter the Great routed the Swedes, commanded by Charles XII, says a cable dispatch today.

Clouds of Yellow Jackets Break Up Big Revival in Boston.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

BOSTON (Ga.) June 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A revival in progress at the Baptist Church here was broken up today by the swarming of yellow jackets, which had built nests back of the pulpit.

The services were at high tension, the preacher being engaged in calling sinners to the mourner's bench, when the hornets began to dart out from their nests and sting sinners and sinners alike.

In a few seconds there seemed to be thousands of the spiteful yellow pests flying about the church. The preacher was one of the first to be stung, and the pain put a stop to his exhortation.

There are 500 men, women and children in Boston tonight putting lotions on "stung" spots.

Declares That Freaks of Nature, Marine Disasters and Other Woes Are Directly Due to Malign Influence of Bunch of Star Dust in Interplanetary Space.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, June 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All the freaks of nature which people have been remarking lately are due, according to Edwin F. Nauty, to the new comet which he and Dr. Brook of Hobart College announced to the world three weeks ago.

As by common instead of by definition, as now. That means that June will continue to be as little like its old self as were the earlier months of the year.

By July the transit ought to be made, and let the weather swing back to normal.

Meanwhile, says Mr. Nauty, watch out for more marine disasters. The two that furnished startling news last week are only the beginning of a series. Ship compasses have gone wrong from this evil influence, Mr. Nauty says, and mariners need the guides that have always been their main reliance running to all sorts of errors. Since Wednesday last, while the morning ships have warned people to carry umbrellas, for fogs or mists have often justified the warning, the local barometers have held steadily fair.

Windy City to Be Cleared of Notorious Gangs of Criminals.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, June 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George Byssit, ex-convict, shell worker, notorious gimlet burglar and all-around bad man, will probably live to be hanged for the murder last night of Officer Russell.

Although shot through the hip and abdomen by Officer Stapleton after he had slain Russell, Byssit showed remarkable recuperative powers at the Passavant Hospital today, and the surgeons said he would probably recover.

Patrol Sgt. Stapleton, twice shot by Byssit, will recover. Incidental to the shooting it was announced today that Fred Brown, one of a set of men convicted with "Skinny" Madden, labor grafter, had been defeated for reelection as business agent of the Sheet Metal Workers' Union. Fighting had been in progress all afternoon and evening in the vicinity of the hall where the election was in progress, and all the "bad men" of the city had assembled in the vicinity.

Byssit, or Blawie, is one of the most notorious burglars in the history of the city. His title of the "Gimlet" was earned by his method of lock and gain entrance in the same manner. The police have no doubt he is responsible for some of the unexplained murders in connection with burglaries here during the last three years. Hundreds of burglaries have been traced to him.

He was arrested in Portland, Or., in the latter part of 1907 with a record of stolen wealth in his possession. The goods were returned and there was no prosecution, he agreeing to leave the city and never return.

Following the shooting in the notorious Bertha saloon, detectives were sent in all directions to round up well-known "gun fighters." John Paakowski, one of a gang that reigned in the city, was shot to death by a policeman. He was forced to shoot to save his own life.

As a result of the murders the police today began clearing the city of the notorious gangs of burglars and hold-ups.

BANDITS' BIG HAUL.

Forty Thousand Dollar Hold-up.

Three Masked Men Enter Mine Bunkhouse and Secure Gold.

Five Miners and Two Women Helpless, Facing Six Revolvers.

Pursuer Overtakes Robbers Dividing Spoils, Escapes Bullets.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

TELLURIDE (Colo.) June 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Holding five men and two women helpless under the muzzles of revolvers, three masked men secured $40,000 in gold from the bunkhouse of the Nellie mine on Bear Creek and made their escape, after a running fight during which several shots were fired and one of the Laramie ridden by the bandits was wounded.

The hold-up was the most daring which has occurred in the San Juan country for years. Fred Zanetti, a former employe of the mine was arrested today in Telluride and is being held, pending an investigation.

Two days ago Zanetti borrowed a ride from the Nellie mine, which has not yet been returned. This was the only weapon at the mine. Sleeping in the bunkhouse were Joseph Kent, manager and lessee of the mine; Al Fillmore, shift boss; Angus McDonald and Adolph Olson, miners; Mr. and Mrs. James Morris and Mrs. Daniel Duncan.

The bandits entered the bunkhouse without making any attempt to move quietly. One of them walked unhesitatingly to the switch and turned on the electric light. When the eleven men awoke, they found themselves in the hands of three armed men.

Telling every one to remain in their beds, the spokesman demanded the sealers and culled ore. He told them that there was no use in delaying matters as he knew what he was after and meant to get it and that some one was likely to get hurt unless the bullion was produced quickly.

Realizing that resistance was useless, as there was not a gun in the building, Kent told the men where the report was hidden. After warning the five men that if they were pursued for an alarm would immediately after their departure they would shoot and shoot to kill, the bandits half rolled and half slipped down a steep cut to where they had their horses tethered.

UNDER FIRE.

Although he was unarmed, Kent immediately started on the trail of the robbers and he came upon them while they were dividing their booty preparatory to mounting.

Two of the robbers opened fire, but they were apparently unused to firearms as the net damage done by the twelve or fifteen shots was the wounding of their own horses.

Kent beat a retreat and the robbers hastily scrambled on their horses and started away on a gallop.

PARIS, June 13.—The work of rescue among the French villages that suffered from the earthquake, continues, but owing to the fact that communications are greatly interrupted, details of the disaster are few. There were slight seismic shocks again today but no damage was reported.

BIGGEST OF MUSHROOMS.

Professor Finds One Weighing Thirty-two and One-half Pounds.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) June 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The grandfather of all mushrooms was discovered a few miles from Pittsburgh today, by Dr. Allen J. Willette, professor of economics and English in Carnegie Technical College. The mushroom was growing at the base of a great oak tree near Millvale. It is 2 1/2 by 22 inches by 9 inches thick, and weighs 32 1/2 pounds.

Two hours after the discovery the Carnegie Institute had the find, which is said to be the largest ever known save one. It is recorded that many years ago a mushroom weighing forty-five pounds was discovered by some one, but local authorities intimate that the record is not authentic. Dr. Willette tonight announced that the mushroom, which was not visible two days ago, grew so fast the grass blades cut it.

FOILED BY BLACK CAT.

Poline Watches Crackmen at Work and Then Extinguishes Their Fuse.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Plans of two accomplished safe burglars were spoiled yesterday morning by a black cat, which extinguished their sputtering fuse.

The dry goods store of Lobes Bros., on lower Market street, was entered by the burglars, who pried the basement door open with a "jimmy," and cut a hole in the floor underneath the office.

The burglars made a selection from the stock, consisting of silk shirt waists, umbrellas, handkerchiefs and neckties, valued at $400, and then turned their attention to the safe.

They took off the combination, made a soap cup, poured nitroglycerine into it, attached a fuse, which they lighted, and ran to safety. There was a black cat in the office which watched the actions of the crackmen, and when it saw the sputtering fuse it jumped at it and extinguished it. The crackmen apparently got scared and disappeared without making another attempt to blow open the safe. The police soon after arrested two well-known safe burglars on suspicion.

PERJURER ASKS PARDON.

Declares Woman Accuser Was Never His Wife and Claims Right to Show His Proofs.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

SACRAMENTO, June 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George D. Collins, convicted perjurer and sentenced to fourteen years at San Quentin, has filed a petition with Gov. Gillett, asking for a pardon. The state statute in October, 1905, Collins was indicted for perjury contained in an answer to a civil action brought against him in May of that year. He states that the action was never brought to trial, and that the matter of the truth or falsity of the deposition was never established in trial.

The action was brought by Charlotte Newman, styling herself "Charlotte Collins," for maintenance. Collins asks for a hearing by the Governor so he may present proofs to show that he was never married to the woman who was his wife and that the deposition was never established in trial.

Collins says there had been no marriage between him and Charlotte Newman, except a common-law marriage entered into in 1888. Collins asks a hearing by the Governor so he may present proofs to show that he was never married to the woman who was his wife and that the deposition was never established in trial.

ABNER SMITH DENIED PARDON.

AGED BANKER MUST SERVE HIS TERM AT JOLIET.

Gov. Deneen of Illinois Accepts Recommendation of Board of Pardons That the Plea Be Not Allowed. Last Chance of Escaping Punishment is Taken Away.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) June 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Abner Smith, convicted of conspiracy to wreck the Bank of America in Chicago, by Gov. Deneen yesterday, upon recommendation of the Board of Pardons, refused to accept a pardon. The Governor's refusal to interfere in the aged banker's case removes the last chance he possesses for escaping a term of confinement in Joliet prison and ends the determined fight Smith has waged the past eighteen months to escape punishment for his part in the Bank of America affair.

In a report made to the Governor the Board of Pardons called attention to the fact that it had "patently" considered the case of Abner Smith, and that the plea of "insanity" submitted by Smith and containing many facts which were not presented at his numerous trials.

"We deem it unnecessary to encumber the records with a detailed statement of the particulars that led to the conviction of the applicant, as they are fully set forth in the case as reported in the Appellate and Supreme Court reports. On the trial of the petitioner he did not testify, but he has presented to the board a large amount of evidence for its consideration. The board has patiently and naturally considered all the evidence, and after such consideration is of the opinion that the plea of insanity is not sustained and that the prayer of the petitioner should be denied and it is so recommended."

At hearings held before the Board of Pardons last month Smith appeared in his own behalf and gave ready explanations of the affairs of the bank. When pressed for explanations of the various details of the transactions, which did not appear to be genuine banking matters, Smith showed no hesitancy in telling just what everything was accomplished according to his point of view. At times during the hearing Smith was so voluble with his explanations that he became tiresome, and the Governor and members of the Board of Pardons good-naturedly gave him plenty of time.

OUR JAIL AT TOP OF LIST.

Finest of Kind in the Country, Is the Claim.

Excellent Equipment for County Prisoners.

Tragedies, Heartbreaks and Brighter Things.

The cleanest, finest and best equipped County Jail in the United States—that is the claim made for the institution where Los Angeles county keeps its prisoners. Alterations in the building have just been completed at large expense and are in line with the public improvements now under way about Los Angeles.

On the ground floor along the entire frontage on Temple street are the new shops, the entrance to which is on Buena Vista street. A visitor enters through double gates, one of which is always locked, and proceeds along a wide stone-paved corridor to the main office, which is to the right. Here is the office of Chief Jailer George Gallagher, and here Book-keeper I. L. Brown keeps a careful record of every prisoner who is forced to make his home behind the bars for a long or short period.

This office is really one great apartment, but it is divided into five rooms by heavy chilled-steel bars, and each room can be isolated at a moment's notice by the closing of the doors. At the Buena Vista-street end of the main office is the record room. Here are countless document boxes in fireproof cases containing the records of all the criminals who have come to the jail for years.

NOT SO CHEERLESS.
First on the other side of the main office is the consultation-room, where prisoners can discuss their cases with their attorneys without interruption by visitors, yet be under the eye of the deputy jailer. It is a cheerful place if any room in a jail with bars can be called cheerful, and the sun streams in through large windows, and shines brightly on the cleanest of floors and walls. The furniture is simple and heavy, but comfortable.

Beyond the consultation-room is the place where visitors can meet and talk with friends or relatives in jail awaiting trial. This apartment is similar in size and furnishings with the consultation-room, except that the table may be a bit smaller and the chairs more numerous.

Outside the visitors' room is a comparatively narrow one-walled on one side by a fine-meshed steel wire, behind which is a long narrow room, in which prisoners who have been convicted, or dangerous characters, are permitted to see their friends and converse with them through the wire screen.

This screen is for the purpose of preventing any confederate from passing to a prisoner, or from a prisoner to a tool with which to make an effort to break jail, or to commit suicide.

Beside the dining room, which is the various cells with their sleeping bunks, are special cells, the death chamber, a recreation room in the top of the building, where the convicted prisoners play cards and read, an airy dining-room for the trustees and a dining-room for the jailers, and a living room for the jailers, and last, but not least, a well-appointed drug shop and operating-room for emergency cases.

SHERIFF HAS HIS WAY.
When the architects submitted their plans and specifications for the remodelled jail Sheriff Hammel objected. He—assisted by Jailer Gallagher—over the plans, and made certain recommendations, and finally insisted that the plans be drawn, not upon theoretical lines, but according to what experience dictated is necessary for such an institution as the Board of Supervisors desired to make of the jail—the finest in the country.

His plans were adopted, and the results accomplished will be made models for the jail in every section.

In charge of this institution is Jailer Gallagher. Besides Book-keeper Brown, the deputies include Oscar Norrell, who is chief of the night watch; Lou Strohm, son of the late Chief Strohm of the fire department; J. B. Loving, George Ebbel, C. C. Birdie and William Keister. These men, both day and night, look after the custody and care of from 350 to 400 prisoners, who come and go continually.

The kitchen in the jail is as well appointed as the majority of hotel kitchens and under the supervision of a regular professional chef, feeds the prisoners with a wholesome bill of fare, which is much appreciated by the vags who are sent in from the country and ten-day men.

Mixed with the tragedies and heartbreaks occur scenes in this building of brighter, happier incidents, the joyousness of freedom declared, the reuniting of families, the forgiveness of injuries, the prayers of thankfulness and resolutions of reform.

Here, shuffled with the daily hobo, mix prisoners celebrated over the country or their crimes or misfortunes. In the jail at this time are many men who have won more than local notoriety by their alleged offenses, most of whom are awaiting trial.

WIFE REFUSES TO LIE.
One of the curious incidents in connection with such a prisoner was the sensational refusal of his wife to go on the stand and swear to a lie to save her husband from State's prison.

It was the case of Charles McCarthy, afterward convicted of forgery and who has just been sentenced to Folsom prison for two years. About a year ago he wooed in fiery fashion Miss Camille Giff of Pasadena, who was visiting there from her home in Kansas City.

McCarthy posed as a rich real estate man, and the prospective bride many fine houses which he said belonged to him, and promised her an automobile. He won the girl and they were married and then the honeymoon he forged a check.

Mrs. McCarthy returned to her folks in Kansas City, but hurried to Los Angeles when her husband sent for her. He wanted her to help in his defense and explained the plan to her. If she would only swear to a certain fact the chance would be greatly in his favor that he would be declared "not guilty" on a technicality.

She refused. Penitence here, she had to send to her father for money to return home. Last week she filed in the Superior Court here a suit for divorce on the grounds that her husband was a drunkard and a gambler.

Main Office of the Finest County Jail Ever Built.

Standing at his desk is Chief Jailer Gallagher; in the foreground, writing, is Book-keeper Brown; standing in the doorway of the record room is Chief Deputy Norrell; sitting beside the desk is Deputy Jailer Strohm, and standing by the scales is Deputy Jailer Loving.

brief romance of this girl's life, a romance and a husband she would not permit herself to win.

In connection with this case are a curious number of letters written by W. P. Clark, a prisoner in San Quentin, sentenced to five years. He wrote these letters to Attorney Devlin of Sacramento, president of the State Board of Prison Directors. He tried to interest Devlin, who was an old friend of his boyhood, in McCarthy. He wrote the letters as if he was a free and prosperous business man. It is considered one of the most curious cases in the history of prisons and prisoners in this State.

Then there is John Lapigue, who was sentenced on April 14, 1928, to ten years for embezzlement, but studied law in his cell and carried the case to the Supreme Court and secured a new trial, which he is now awaiting.

BAD CHARACTERS.
J. T. Garwood, chief of the gang of hold-up men who shot and robbed Frank Johansson on Temple street last December, is considered one of the most dangerous men ever in the jail. A few days ago he plotted to break jail, secured a weapon and would have spared no life in his effort to escape his sentence of imprisonment for life. But Jailer Gallagher discovered the plot and at the last moment foiled the plan of the daring freebooter.

Among the alleged murderers in the jail awaiting trial or appeal from sentence, are E. B. Nichols, the Texas boy who killed Ramirez last winter; Judge Render, a colored man, charged with the murder of his wife; H. E. Bennett, charged with poisoning his wife, whose examination will be held before Justice Ling this week; Fred Markham, sentenced to life for shooting and killing his brother at San Fernando; "Arizona Jack" Allen, charged with the murder of Deputy Constable DeMoraesville, and a number of others.

There is a "bunch of robbers and real estate men" charged with various ways of obtaining money or property under false pretenses. Such are the Los Angeles County Jail, one of the finest in the world and crammed full of human interest life stories of heart and finance as representative of the criminal and the jail as a cosmopolitan city.

TRAIL BLAZED.
SENIORS GIVEN TIMELY ADVICE.
URGED TO PITCH THEIR TENTS TOWARD SUNRISE.

"Look to East, Seize Opportunities," said Rev. Dr. Phelps to Graduating Class of Occidental College. There is no Room in the World for Losers.

Rev. Arthur S. Phelps, D.D., preached an inspiring baccalaureate sermon in the graduating class of Occidental College in the Hall of Letters yesterday afternoon. "Pitching Your Tent Toward the Sunrise" was his subject.

"The glory of the sunrise is in its possibilities," said Dr. Phelps, "and you seniors, who are about to leave these halls, should ever look to the East. The training you have received has fitted you to improve the possibilities of life."

"You are not to wait for a streak of good luck. The young man who waits on the corner for something to turn up will be turned down. Initiative and diligence in pursuing the duty at hand alone can bring results, and the person who waits for things to come his way is left in the lurch."

"There are a good many people who wait for the legacy of the dead hand. You cannot count on that sort of thing. The good things that are expected to materialize at some time in the future may never fall to you, and if you have been marking time, you are left far behind. Self-reliance and independence are qualities much to be desired."

"Opportunities neglected haunt us in later life. The young man or woman who is not alert to seize chances for advancement will some day have to regret. Of course, sickness, or misfortune, may call a temporary halt in our plans, but the man with a fixed purpose will not be turned aside from his goal. In fact, sickness and sorrow are not necessarily misfortune. Sometimes they assist us in setting our true bearing."

"If you neglect the habits of study which you have acquired, you will lose the advantage of your college course will be lost. Neglect your moral training and you surely will begin to slip backward."

"It is not enough to hold your own. You must advance. No one is really holding his own, if he is not marching ahead, he is slipping to the rear."

Dean Ward read the scriptural lesson and Mrs. M. H. Tiffany, of South Pasadena, sang.

After the services the Christian associations of the college met, under the leadership of Rev. Mr. Gantz of the Highland Park Presbyterian Church. Rev. H. K. Walker, D.D., delivered an address.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK OPENS.

ORATORY GRADUATES' RECITAL FIRST FUNCTION.

Tomorrow Comes Greatest Social Event of U.S.C. Year—President's Levee and Senior Promenade—Subsequent Days to Be Crowded With Pleasures for Graduates.

Commencement week at the University of Southern California, which will be crowded with events for the graduates and friends of the various colleges, will be ushered in, this evening, at the University Methodist Church, when the graduates of the College of Oratory will give a programme of readings. These recitals have always been attended with great success and tonight's is expected to be unusually interesting.

Tomorrow evening, the greatest social function of the college year, the president's levee and senior promenade, will take place on the university campus. Booths have been constructed out of doors, at which refreshments will be served. In the College of Music hall, President Board and representative seniors will receive and there will be elaborate floral decorations. The affair is an invitation one.

The first ceremony will take place Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. At that time the graduates make their gift to the university, and the undergraduates are instructed in the duties of senior control. The seniors of the College of Liberal Arts have had hung at the entrance of the main building two massive, oak-paneled doors. Above these is an artistic transom, bearing the symbols of education.

The graduating exercises of the preparatory department will take place, Wednesday evening, in the University Methodist Church. There will be orations and essays and thirty-six seniors will receive their diplomas.

Thursday morning, at Temple Auditorium the twenty-sixth commencement of the university will be held. Rev. Matt S. Hughes will deliver the principal address at Bishop Edwin Hughes is expected to officiate as commencement chaplain. The academic procession will form at 9:30 o'clock at the First Methodist Church at Sixth and Hill streets, and will march via Sixth and Olive streets to the Auditorium.

The week will close with the alumni banquets. The Liberal Arts function will be held in the university banquet hall. Members of the first graduating class of the university, including President Board, are to be guests of honor, together with the graduates of this year. The College of Law banquet will be held at the Lankershim club of the university, including President Board, are to be guests of honor, together with the graduates of this year.

During the vacation period, a number of the professors will take summer courses at different universities. Prof. Ruth Brown of the department of foreign languages, will go to the University of Wisconsin. Prof. Stella Morgan will have a year's leave of absence to take her doctor's degree at the University of Illinois. She will spend the summer at the University of Chicago.

Prof. Gertrude Comstock will visit in Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois; Prof. Margaret Northwick will take special studies at the University of California, and Prof. Sarah Miller will enjoy a six weeks' trip to Alaska and Washington.

Granddaughter of Woman Who First Fashioned Flag Writes to Monrovia Friend.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)
MONROVIA, June 10.—The granddaughter of Betsy Ross, the woman whose nimble fingers first fashioned the flag 132 years ago, is Mrs. R. J. Albright of Fort Madison, Iowa. She is linked to Revolutionary days by actual speech with her famous grandmother.

"Flag Day" means more to her than the formal commemoration of the emblem's adoption, for at her grandmother's knee she heard the story of its first making and fingered remnants of the material. Again and again she heard how Gen. Washington commissioned her grandmother to make the first of the new republic's flag.

beside her roughly sketching a draft of the design adopted by Congress. Writing to Mrs. J. W. La Force, a University friend, Mrs. Albright wrote: "My grandmother, Elizabeth Ross, was a daughter of S. Griscom, who was a Revolutionary soldier and a patriot of this country. She married Mr. Ross at an early age, and was a widow at the time Col. George Ross, her husband's uncle, and Gen. George Washington called on her in Philadelphia, asking her to make the flag, of which they drew a rough sketch. She suggested a slight alteration, and made the flag which was accepted and became the banner of the nation."

DOOMS RAILROAD.
Diversion of Grain Traffic from Lakes to Pacific Knell of Hudson Bay Route.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
OTTAWA, June 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is regarded by many public men in Western Canada that the diversion of the grain traffic of Alberta from the lake route to the Pacific, sounds the knell of the proposed Hudson Bay Railway, which the Dominion government has committed itself to build. This project was mainly urged to enable the farmers of Alberta to reach European markets more expeditiously and more economically than by the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence.

It is to be noted that people familiar with trade conditions on the Atlantic seaboard and the rules and requirements of navigation have found it impossible to believe in the utility of the Hudson Bay route. It is pointed out that the completion of the railway to the Hudson Bay is only a quarter of the story, and the erection of huge elevators for the reception of the grain does not tell it all. Navigation on the bay and of the straits must be studied, as it is unknown.

"It cured me" or "It saved the life of my child" are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures.

SPIRITUALISTS RAIDED.

Officers Rudely Interrupt Lecture on Life Beyond—Man and Woman in Law's Clutches.

A lecture on life in the world beyond, with stereoscopic views of a "Trip Through Heaven," was rudely interrupted by officers, who raided a meeting of the spiritualists at No. 827 South Broadway, last night.

Lee W. Packard, clad in a silk hat, frock coat and some necessary garments, went into a trance and in telling how people lived after death, referred to streams that ran up hill and mountains of granite that could only be cut by water from the river of life. All would have been well had not an admission been charged.

Packard, Carl Smith and Lee L. Powers were arrested. At police headquarters, Packard stated that he had simply been showing views of Mexico. Mrs. Bell Edwards and Harry Halston were arrested at No. 517 South Broadway, at the residence of the spiritualists, where they were given spirit rappings. They were charged with conducting business without license and will be arraigned in the Police Court today.

SENIORS BEAT FACULTY.

Horse Play at Pomona College Game Pleases Claremont Fans—Graduating Recital.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)
CLAREMONT, June 10.—Two runs were all that the faculty team scored against the seniors in the annual baseball game at Pomona College yesterday. The big crowd that always thronged the game, the seniors' team event, filled the bleachers of Alumni Field, and cheered the "Profs" for errors.

As usual, the game was poor as an exhibition of baseball, but was immensely enjoyed by the rooters on account of the horse-play. Prof. Corley and Coach Stanton, the only faculty men to score, received ovations when they crossed the plate. The seniors contained several "varsity" players, and easily rolled up a score of 14 runs. Lewis Johnson of the School of Music, and Fred A. Smith of the philosophy department, pitched for the faculty, while Tangeman and Weinland relieved for the seniors.

A large audience was present to hear the graduating recital of Miss Marjorie Elliott of the First Presbyterian Church. The recital was given in the college chapel last evening. Miss Kinney graduates this spring from both the vocal and piano departments of the School of Music, being already well known to Claremont audiences through her fine work in both departments.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)
MONROVIA, June 10.—The granddaughter of Betsy Ross, the woman whose nimble fingers first fashioned the flag 132 years ago, is Mrs. R. J. Albright of Fort Madison, Iowa. She is linked to Revolutionary days by actual speech with her famous grandmother.

"Flag Day" means more to her than the formal commemoration of the emblem's adoption, for at her grandmother's knee she heard the story of its first making and fingered remnants of the material. Again and again she heard how Gen. Washington commissioned her grandmother to make the first of the new republic's flag.

beside her roughly sketching a draft of the design adopted by Congress. Writing to Mrs. J. W. La Force, a University friend, Mrs. Albright wrote: "My grandmother, Elizabeth Ross, was a daughter of S. Griscom, who was a Revolutionary soldier and a patriot of this country. She married Mr. Ross at an early age, and was a widow at the time Col. George Ross, her husband's uncle, and Gen. George Washington called on her in Philadelphia, asking her to make the flag, of which they drew a rough sketch. She suggested a slight alteration, and made the flag which was accepted and became the banner of the nation."

DOOMS RAILROAD.
Diversion of Grain Traffic from Lakes to Pacific Knell of Hudson Bay Route.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
OTTAWA, June 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is regarded by many public men in Western Canada that the diversion of the grain traffic of Alberta from the lake route to the Pacific, sounds the knell of the proposed Hudson Bay Railway, which the Dominion government has committed itself to build. This project was mainly urged to enable the farmers of Alberta to reach European markets more expeditiously and more economically than by the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence.

It is to be noted that people familiar with trade conditions on the Atlantic seaboard and the rules and requirements of navigation have found it impossible to believe in the utility of the Hudson Bay route. It is pointed out that the completion of the railway to the Hudson Bay is only a quarter of the story, and the erection of huge elevators for the reception of the grain does not tell it all. Navigation on the bay and of the straits must be studied, as it is unknown.

ORATORY GRADUATES' RECITAL FIRST FUNCTION.

Tomorrow Comes Greatest Social Event of U.S.C. Year—President's Levee and Senior Promenade—Subsequent Days to Be Crowded With Pleasures for Graduates.

Commencement week at the University of Southern California, which will be crowded with events for the graduates and friends of the various colleges, will be ushered in, this evening, at the University Methodist Church, when the graduates of the College of Oratory will give a programme of readings. These recitals have always been attended with great success and tonight's is expected to be unusually interesting.

Tomorrow evening, the greatest social function of the college year, the president's levee and senior promenade, will take place on the university campus. Booths have been constructed out of doors, at which refreshments will be served. In the College of Music hall, President Board and representative seniors will receive and there will be elaborate floral decorations. The affair is an invitation one.

The first ceremony will take place Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. At that time the graduates make their gift to the university, and the undergraduates are instructed in the duties of senior control. The seniors of the College of Liberal Arts have had hung at the entrance of the main building two massive, oak-paneled doors. Above these is an artistic transom, bearing the symbols of education.

The graduating exercises of the preparatory department will take place, Wednesday evening, in the University Methodist Church. There will be orations and essays and thirty-six seniors will receive their diplomas.

Thursday morning, at Temple Auditorium the twenty-sixth commencement of the university will be held. Rev. Matt S. Hughes will deliver the principal address at Bishop Edwin Hughes is expected to officiate as commencement chaplain. The academic procession will form at 9:30 o'clock at the First Methodist Church at Sixth and Hill streets, and will march via Sixth and Olive streets to the Auditorium.

The week will close with the alumni banquets. The Liberal Arts function will be held in the university banquet hall. Members of the first graduating class of the university, including President Board, are to be guests of honor, together with the graduates of this year. The College of Law banquet will be held at the Lankershim club of the university, including President Board, are to be guests of honor, together with the graduates of this year.

During the vacation period, a number of the professors will take summer courses at different universities. Prof. Ruth Brown of the department of foreign languages, will go to the University of Wisconsin. Prof. Stella Morgan will have a year's leave of absence to take her doctor's degree at the University of Illinois. She will spend the summer at the University of Chicago.

Prof. Gertrude Comstock will visit in Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois; Prof. Margaret Northwick will take special studies at the University of California, and Prof. Sarah Miller will enjoy a six weeks' trip to Alaska and Washington.

"It cured me" or "It saved the life of my child" are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures.

MAY REBUILD DAM.
Walnut Grove Dam Site, Breaking of Which Caused Great Loss of Life, Resurveyed.
(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)
PRESIDENT, June 11.—Luther Wagoner, a Los Angeles civil engineer, has just completed a resurvey of the famous old Walnut Grove dam site and reservoir, preliminary to probable reconstruction of the dam, which was destroyed by flood in February of 1900. The breaking of the dam was one of the worst tragedies of the Southwest, nearly 100 lives being lost and an immense amount of property destroyed. The structure was 116 feet high and 400 feet long, built to divert all excess water through a waste-way that was soon demonstrated as being far too small. Mr. Wagoner has stated that the new dam contemplated the building of a fine stone dam, 230 feet high, and of the safest pattern. About fifteen miles below will be a service dam, 60 feet high, from which water will be diverted into flumes for the working of valuable gold placer beds along the Hamsprange valley. Also contemplated is the reclamation of a large expanse of arid land that can readily be made fruitful. The project is controlled by the Van Buren estate of New York. For many years ex-Gov. A. O. Brodie was its manager. Hypnotism was very effectively used at the courthouse Thursday in stilling the screams of an insane miner named Brittingham, who was being held awaiting shipment to the Territorial asylum. The hypnotist was a young man, Ray Cline, who had been an employee of the former Territorial governor, who stated that he had studied hypnotism with success in dealing with the unfortunate under his charge. At Williams, a few days ago, Santa Fe train hands called upon the local police to take the train to the rule of the railroad company against the carrying of dogs in passenger cars. The passenger, Louis Belmonte, was arrested, held over a day, and next day permitted to depart for his Milwaukee home, with his wife. The train was held at Williams in the baggage car. Wednesday, at Flagstaff, were married Charles M. Hamilton of Grand Canyon and Miss Clara Fisher of St. Louis, after an acquaintance of only a couple of days. The bride, a stenographer by her vocation, was guided down the Grand Canyon trail by Hamilton, and the courtship was fast and successful. Owing to drought, a number of small forest fires have started around Flagstaff, but are being kept down by work of the Forest Service. Four companies of the Eighteenth Infantry will garrison Whipple Barracks this fall. The barracks is now under the management of the army, handsome new concrete structures having been built to replace the frame buildings that were erected in the early days of the Territory. In the single item of concrete walks, the estimated cost will be $25,000. Mineral Park, once the prosperous county seat of Mohave county, again is to have a postoffice. PHONES FOR AIRSHIPS. Wireless instrument built for a balloon to be used at Springfield, Mass. An experiment will soon be made to determine the success of communicating by wireless telephone from a balloon to stations on the ground. The first wireless telephone instrument for aerial purposes was delivered to A. Leo Stevens, of New York, who has been experimenting in wireless telephony for several years. The instrument, which weighs 15 pounds, is a small, portable, and is capable of transmitting and receiving messages. The total weight of the instrument is 15 pounds and a half. Stevens gave a demonstration at his balloon shop of how the outfit would appear when attached to the inside of the car. He said that his wireless telephone will be used in the reconstructed balloon Conqueror, which was one of the American contestants last year in the international race at Berlin, and which exploded when several thousand feet in the air, with A. H. H. Forster and Augustus Post. The balloon will be known hereafter as the Columbia. Its first ascension will be made from the Springfield Aero Club at Springfield, Mass. Wireless telephone stations will be established on top of some high buildings in New York and Boston, said Stevens, and we expect to be able to give a detailed account of our trip as we sail through the air. For long ascensions or balloon races the wireless telephone outfit should be of incalculable value, as it will be possible to keep track of the balloon, and, in case of difficulty, assistance may be quickly sent. "For government use in dirigible balloons, the wireless telephone will also be of great value in reconnoitering expeditions it would thus be possible to give accurate information of the operations of the enemy in time of war." A TOUGH OMELET. Chain Was Hitched to One End and a Locomotive Shoved It Out of the Way. [Philadelphia North American.] Railroad traffic through Shilltown was delayed for several hours yesterday by a huge omelet, which blocked the track. The omelet was caused by a fire, several hundred thousand eggs had been stored in a refrigerating plant on the main line. The buildings caught fire and early in the blaze the doors gave way, dropping all the eggs to the ground floor and breaking all of them. The intense heat caused them to swell, and as the omelet grew it pushed its way upon the tracks. For a full 100 feet on both sides of the burning structure, this gigantic omelet filled the right of way. At first it might have been possible to push a locomotive through the mass, since the omelet was very light and frothy. But by the time the fire was extinguished the omelet had become solid and dropped into a heavy, solid mass, which was as tough as a rabbit. A wrecking crew was sent for, chains were attached to one end of the mass and a locomotive got into action. The omelet was rolled up and shoved to the side of the track. A Corner in Corn Broken. This story is told on David Brewster, a farmer who had lived near Delphos for forty years. During grasshopper times many years ago Mr. Brewster fortunately had a crib full of corn, and corn got to be worth more than money in that part of the State. Two new settlers were just about starving when they went to buy a little of the grain. "Mr. Brewster," said one of the would-be buyers, "will you sell us a little of that corn?" "Not a d—d ear," was the reply. "But we are nearly starved, and here is the money; just name your price and we will pay it." "Put up your money. I'm not selling any corn," he replied. "But we will pay you $5-$10 a bushel." "Didn't I say I wouldn't sell you any corn? Do you take me for a liar?" The men turned to depart. "Wait," called Brewster, "drive around to the end of the crib and put in ten bushels, but not an ear more. I'm not going to get rich off my neighbors' misfortunes. There are a lot of people around here who will need corn, and it must be divided into lots." And the crib of corn, which would have brought its owner a small fortune, was given to his neighbors who were not so fortunate as himself.—Hochester Herald.

COUNCIL AND MAYOR AT WAR.
Ben Heney's Authority in Open Issue.
Two Superintendents of Water System in Field.
Tucson May Hold Mass Meeting on Question.
(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)
TUCSON (Ariz.), June 11.—A most joyous row is on in the government of this ancient pueblo. Apparently it is over a few offices and the emoluments thereof, but down at the bottom is the question whether Mayor Ben Heney is the boss of the road or not. Heney was elected as a sort of non-partisan, in opposition only to a socialistic candidate, but has developed traits that show that a middle-of-the-road policy is as repugnant to him as it would be to his brother, the San Francisco prospector. Sustaining him is Councilman Dickerman, appointed a week ago to fill a vacancy. Opposed to Heney are four Councilmen, Meyers, Drachman, Jacobson and Mosier, concerning whom the Mayor has most freely "spoken his mind," thus broadening the chasm to a width beyond bridging. For three months H. C. Brown has been superintending the city water system, on a sort of trial appointment. At the last meeting of the City Council the Mayor stated that while Brown was all that could be desired in a personal and clerical way, he was not sufficiently expert as a mechanic, so an appointment of Neal Le Baume in his place. Le Baume has been a machinist in the Southern Pacific shops and it is alleged that he has been named in pursuance of a protection bargain made with Heney. The majority of the Council seems to have little personal objection to him and only slight desire to continue Brown in office. Brown has announced that he will cheerfully hand over the job to any one who comes to him with authority. But the matter has been taken up as a test case and will be fought out, for the Council will not confirm the new appointment. BROWN HOLDS ON. Councilman G. F. Meyers, as chairman of the Water Department Committee, has issued orders to all employees that Brown shall be obeyed and that no attention shall be paid to communications not emanating from the Water Department Committee. The Mayor yesterday issued a counter manifesto, addressed to the members of the Water Committee and all city employees, stating that Brown's tenure had expired and that Le Baume must be recognized as superintendent, the latter concluding: "I feel that the grave situation which confronts the city and the citizens of the city of Tucson demands this step, and I feel that public policy in the protection of the city and its citizens justifies me in taking this action, pending the filling of the vacancy in the office of water superintendent by the Mayor and Common Council." Le Baume has presented himself for work, but has been turned down. Yet he is to be considered, by order of the Mayor, as a "general caretaker and overseer." The situation has been somewhat complicated by further action of the Council in a general reduction of the salaries of city officials. The superintendent of the water department has been cut from $150 to $75 a month, the street superintendent from $125 to $100, the farm superintendent and City Engineer the same, assistant superintendent of the water department and City Attorney from $100 to $75, City Clerk from $125 to $75, Building Inspector from $125 to $75, and Health Officer from $75 to $35. An additional office has been created, that of City Bacteriologist, whose duty it shall be to examine milk offered for sale in the city. Dr. A. C. Schnabel has been appointed to the place, at $50 a month. It is probable that the trouble will be given a further airing in a public meeting, which Heney has suggested, and at which his partisans will move to secure a vote of censure of the insurgent Councilmen. Heney has challenged them to open debate and has written: "If I fail to prove conclusively and overwhelmingly that they acted in bad faith, to will agree to resign as Mayor, provided they also agree to resign as Councilmen if the vote is against them, the decision to be left to a vote of the audience present."
